Gradients

Do — pair coral with ink + cream

Vote now

High contrast, party feel.

Don't — pink on pink

Vote now

Reads as too feminine & low contrast.

Dark / Night Pop Lite

Use sparingly — for night mode, lobby ambience and post-game reveals.

05 AVATARS & ILLUSTRATION

No mascot. The wordmark does the work.

Bloop ships without a character. Brand recognition lives in the wordmark, the coral dot, and the color system. Players are represented by an initial in their chosen color — fast, neutral, infinitely scalable.

PLAYER AVATARS · INITIAL ON COLOR

T E H S L M N Z

Color is hashed from the name — every player gets a consistent hue across sessions. Letter is always the first character of the display name.

ILLUSTRATION POLICY

· Decorative slots use brand color blocks + the coral dot, never characters.

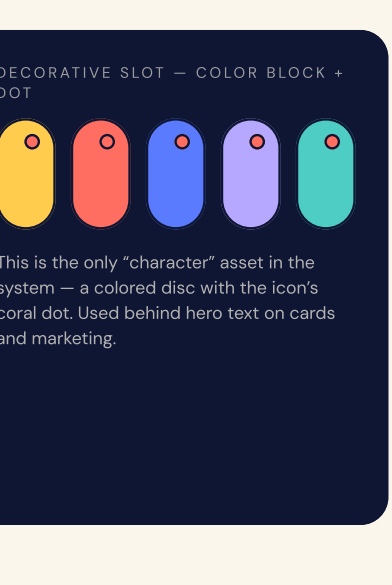
· Empty / onboarding states use a single oversized icon from the icon system.

· If illustration is ever needed (marketing, paid social), commission it externally — don't generate it in-product.

· No drawn faces. No mascot family. No hero character.

DECORATIVE SLOT — COLOR BLOCK + DOT



This is the only "character" asset in the system — a colored disc with the icon's coral dot. Used behind hero text on cards and marketing.

06 ICONOGRAPHY

Rounded. Bold. Readable in a dark room.
